Why so much Garlic in Korean food?

Garlic is proven to be very beneficial to healthy, reducing cholesterol and blood pressure and clotting, relieving catarrh, bronchitis and colds. It is also used in the treatment of tuberculosis and whooping cough. It is mildly antibiotic, and tests confirm activity against a range of disease-producing bacteria. It is used as an antiseptic, diaphoretic, diuretic and expectorant and has recently been tested in the treatment of lead poisoning, diabetes and certain carcinomas. Garlic juice mixed with honey or sugar is used to treat coughs, colds and asthma.
